Hundreds of residents turned out on Good Friday for the third annual Easter celebration, bringing energy and excitement to a growing community tradition in Benbrook.

The event began at the Benbrook YMCA, where participants of all ages gathered before hopping, running and walking their way to Benbrook Par 3 & Range for an afternoon of festivities. Along the route and at the destination, families enjoyed a variety of activities designed to celebrate the holiday and bring the community together. (continued on page 6)

Benbrook Baseball Stays Perfect in District; Western Hills Softball Clinches Playoff Spot

The Benbrook baseball team went 2-0 against Eastern Hills last week, winning the first game by a score of 16-0 and the second game by forfeit.

The Bobcats remain undefeated in district competition, and coach Justin Chavez said his team took care of business in the series. (continued on page 4)

Benbrook Council Action by John English

Benbrook Council Hears Child Abuse Prevention Update, Approves Key Appointments and Services Contract

The Benbrook City Council meeting was held on April 2 as scheduled. Mayor Jason Ward called the meeting to order. An invocation was followed by the Pledge of Allegiance.

Time was then allowed for citizen comments on any agenda item, but there were none. The minutes from the meeting held on March 19 were then unanimously approved unanimously.

The first item of the evening was a citizen presentation from the Alliance For Children by Celeste Tarango and Rachel Rivera.

Tarango reminded members, staff and residents that April is Child Abuse Prevention month and asked people to try to wear Blue as much as possible.

Tarango then gave a presentation on what the Alliance for Children does along with statistics on child abuse in Tarrant County.

Mayor Ward asked the representatives about their day-to-day relationships with the Benbrook Police Department and other local departments.

“We do staffings bi-weekly,” Rivera said. “So if any cases do happen in this jurisdiction, we have constant communication with those detectives to ensure that they are coming in and we all sit down at the table...and we go through the cases one by one.”

Ward commented that Alliance for Children had collaborated with the City of Benbrook on more than 20 cases over the last year.

Council member Renee Franklin asked what the community can do to help besides financial assistance to provide support to the organization.

“I know that during back to school they do clothing,” Tarango said. “I think it has to be non-used clothing. But honestly, in my opinion, is just be aware of the signs (of abuse) and it is important to report these types of things.”

Rivera said that another way to help is to volunteer and spread the word about the organization, making people know it is available as a service.

Next up was a motion to consider confirmation of the City Manager’s Appointment to the Civil Service (continued on page 3)

Commission Place 2.

Due to a recent resignation, Place 2 on the Civil Service Commission is vacant. The City Manager is able to select a new member to the Commission with city council's approval, and City Manager Jim Hinderaker selected Russell Kirkpatrick.

Kirkpatrick was confirmed unanimously to the unexpired term ending on Feb. 5, 2027.

Next was a motion to consider approval of a contract for fire and EMS Services with Tarrant County Emergency Services District No. 1 for fiscal year 2025-26. The contract was approved unanimously.

Time was then allowed for informal citizen comments, but there were none.

Time was then allowed for staff and council member comments, and member Franklin reminded residents of a couple of now passed events, and took a moment to remember and pay tribute to Charles "Chuck" Atkinson.

Council Member Sean Moore then informed residents that new Benbrook restaurant "Jakes" is set to open on April 8.

The meeting adjourned.

From the Texas Comptroller's Office Texas Businesses: April 15 is Deadline for Filing Property Tax Renditions

Acting Texas Comptroller Kelly Hancock reminds business owners that April 15 is the deadline to file property tax renditions with their county appraisal districts. Different deadlines apply for certain regulated property.

A rendition is a report that lists a business's good faith estimate of value for its taxable inventory, furniture and fixtures, machinery, equipment and other property owned or managed as of Jan. 1 each year. The appraisal district may use the information reported in the rendition to set property values.

A rendition allows property owners to record their opinion of their property's value and ensures the appraisal district notifies property owners before changing a recorded value. Exempt property, such as church property and equipment used for farming, is not subject to rendition.

Owners whose property was damaged by storm, flood or fire in calendar 2025 may file a special decreased value report, which indicates the property's condition on Jan. 1, 2026. Filing the decreased value report could lower those owners' final tax bills for 2026. Rendition forms and decreased value report forms are available from county appraisal district offices statewide and may be downloaded at the Comptroller's property tax forms webpage.

For more information about property renditions, deadlines, deadline extensions, penalties and rendition forms, taxpayers may contact the Comptroller's Property Tax Assistance Division at 800-252-9121 (press 3) or visit the division online.

“We won both games this week versus Eastern Hills and improved to 15-8, and 8-0 in district,” Chavez said. “We have a bye in district this week, but we have Boswell this weekend. They are a good test for us going into the playoffs and we have four more non-district competitive games before we start the playoffs. These games are beneficial to us because we get to see the velocity from pitchers that we need to see heading into the playoffs.”

In softball, Western Hills defeated Carter-Riverside last week, and coach Tyler Sutton said he team played at a high level all the way around.

“The girls played well Thursday night against Carter-Riverside cruising to a 12-1 victory,” Sutton said. “The girls bounced back from a tough Tuesday night loss and played with tons of chemistry. Energy was high and almost the entire roster contributed in some way statistically.”

Sutton said he had a couple of especially strong performances in the game.

“Senior pitcher Addison Dudley was fantastic on the mound and at the plate,” Sutton said. “She struck out Carter Riverside 10 times and allowed only one hit on the night. At the plate she made it on base safely in all her plate appearances including hitting a double that drove in two runs. Senior second baseman Vivian Hernandez stood out defensively as she recorded one assist and two put outs which included a quick reacting catch on a line drive.”

With the playoffs around the corner, Sutton said he is feeling pretty good about how his team is performing.

“I feel confident in our team as we reach the final weeks towards playoffs and excited to see how much momentum we will have going into round one,” Sutton said. “We are playing at a high level but more importantly, playing cohesively, and with the win Thursday night, the girls officially punched their ticket to the playoffs.”

Obituary

Stuart Sibley

Stuart Sibley left behind this small blue sphere we call Earth and transitioned to his heavenly home on April 4, 2026, following a brief illness.

Funeral services will be conducted by Cook-Gerngross-Green-Patterson Funeral Home in Rosebud, Texas. Visitation will be from 1:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. on Monday, April 13 at the funeral home, followed by a graveside service at 3 p.m. at Powers Chapel Cemetery. Rev. Don Fulton will officiate.

Stuart was born in Fort Worth, Texas, on November 14, 1977. He was the first child of Deborah Susan (Tutcher) Sibley and Stephen Earl Sibley. Stuart was a blond-haired, brown-eyed bundle of energy as a toddler. He was always up for a new adventure. Stuart attended grade school at All Saints Episcopal School in Fort Worth and later graduated from high school at Western Hills. After high school, he worked for a time as an interior finisher and painter. He then decided to move to Nacogdoches, TX, where he lived with his grandparents and attended Stephen F. Austin State University for two years.

Stuart then moved to Brownwood, TX, and worked for 3M as a maker for a number of years until a workplace injury forced him to end his employment there. He then moved back to Benbrook to live with his parents.

Stuart liked anything with wheels: skateboards, electric cars, bikes, motorcycles, and his blue convertible Mustang. He enjoyed going hunting with his and his dad's friends and fishing from his granddad's pier on Lake Arrowhead. Stuart enjoyed helping his dad at the family farm, doing all kinds of work necessary to maintain the farm.

Stuart was baptized and became a member of the Ridglea United Methodist Church in 1992. Stuart loved well and was well loved by all of his friends and family.

Stuart was predeceased by his mother, Debbie Sibley. He is survived by his dad, Stephen Sibley; one brother, Scott Andrew Sibley; aunts, Sylvia Sibley Middlebrook and Janice Stokes; and uncle, Thomas Tutcher Jr.; cousins, Holli Smith, Dr. Emily Middlebrook Robinson, Jennifer Mohon, and Jon-David Alexander.

The family suggests memorials to the Union Gospel Mission of Tarrant County or the Presbyterian Night Shelter of Tarrant County.

Lineage Societies Meet for Scholarship Awards Luncheon

Four local lineage societies recognized area students during a joint annual scholarship luncheon in March.

Participating organizations included the Honorable Philip Livingston Chapter of the National Society Daughters of the American Colonists, the General Edward H. Tarrant Chapter of the United States Daughters of 1812, the Governor Thomas Hinckley Chapter of the National Society Colonial Dames XVII Century and the Texas Society Daughters of Colonial Wars. Lori Duhon, president of the Tarrant Chapter of the U.S. Daughters of 1812, presided over the event.

Each organization supports youth education and annually honors selected recipients.

Yazmin Chavez of Amon Carter Riverside High School received the Mildred Nimmo Lucas Scholarship. Presented by scholarship chair Dr. Jean deSchweinitz, Chavez has a 4.26 GPA, ranks eighth in her class and plans to attend the University of Texas at Austin to study finance. She was accompanied by counselor Christine Gonzalez.

The Daughters of the American Colonists Scholarship was awarded to Aiyana Flores-Colon by scholarship chair LaWayne Hauser. Flores-Colon is completing the Tarrant County College Physical Therapist Assistant Program and plans to pursue work in an inpatient neurological setting. She was joined by program director Stacie Anderson and intake coordinator Holly Dickson.

Ainsleigh Craig, a senior at Burluson Collegiate High School, received the Colonial Dames XVII Century Scholarship. Scholarship chair Cecelia Van Donselaar presented the award. Craig plans to attend the University of North Texas and major in history or biology with the goal of continuing her education.

Myles E. Amason received the Grace C. Massengill Scholarship, presented by Dr. Kathryn Beck, state president of the Texas Society Daughters of Colonial Wars. A student at Hardin-Simmons University, Amason is majoring in fitness, recreation and sports management with minors in nutrition and history. He hopes to coach at the collegiate or professional level and eventually become an athletic director. His mother and grandmother accepted the award on his behalf.

Texas History Minute by Dr. Ken Bridges

Roger Mills: Texas Statesman's Long Career Marked by Service, Stubborn Politics

Roger Mills was an early Texas lawyer and legislator. He fought in the Civil War and served for nearly three decades in Congress and the U. S. Senate from the 1870s through the 1890s. Though respected for his dedication and work ethic, his political stands damaged his political career.

Roger Quarles Mills was born in Todd County, Kentucky, just on the Tennessee state line, in 1832. Not long after statehood and the end of the Mexican War, the family moved to Texas in 1849. Mills was interested in law, but as there were no law schools in Texas at the time, he apprenticed himself to an attorney and studied it himself. In 1852, barely 20 years old, he was admitted to the bar, becoming the youngest attorney in the state at the time.

Mills settled in Corsicana, built a respected practice, and got involved in local politics. In 1859, he was elected to the state legislature. Texas seceded from the Union in February 1861 as his term ended. He quickly enlisted in the Confederate Army, serving as a private. He soon saw action at the Battle of Wilson's Creek in August 1861 in Missouri as Confederate forces tried unsuccessfully to pull that state out of the Union. In October, the 10th Texas Infantry Regiment was organized, and Mills was promoted to colonel as he helped organize the new regiment, also called "Wilson's Guards."

The first major action that the 10th Texas saw was at the Battle of Arkansas Post on the Mississippi River in January 1863. Confederate forces were overwhelmed, and most of the 10th Texas was captured and held prisoner until an exchange a few months later. The 10th was combined with the 6th Texas Infantry and the 15th Texas Cavalry, with Gen. James Deshler in command. At the battle of Chickamauga in October, Deshler was killed, and Mills assumed command.

For the rest of the war, Mills led the 10th Texas as Confederate defenses in eastern Tennessee and northern Georgia faltered. By 1865, Mills led his troops into North Carolina with what remained of the Confederate Army. His forces surrendered near Durham, North Carolina, in late April, more than two weeks after Gen. Robert E. Lee's surrender at Appomattox.

After the war, he returned to Corsicana. In 1872, he was elected as a Democrat to Congress. In Congress, he became known for his work ethic. He rose to become chairman of the influential Ways and Means Committee, which crafted the federal budget, and later the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce. As the economy depended on exports of cattle, cotton, and grains, foreign trade was especially important; but there were still many defenders of high protectionist tariffs. Mills attempted to push through a bill that reduced the overseas tariff but instead only got a watered-down tariff reduction bill, the Mills Bill of 1888, which passed the Democratic House of Representatives easily but was shot down by the Republican Senate.

One of his most notable political battles came in 1891 after the Democrats reclaimed the U. S. House of Representatives in the mid-term elections. Mills ran for Speaker of the House. He quickly gathered commitments from 120 fellow Democrats. However, backroom deals peeled away several supporters; and the election went on ballot after ballot. As with his stubborn nature he had shown through much of his career, he refused to back down and make compromises. On the thirtieth ballot, he lost to Rep. Charles Crisp of Georgia by a margin of 119 to 105.

In spite of the loss, in 1891, the Oklahoma Territory named the new Roger Mills County, which borders the Texas Panhandle, after him. In March 1892, the state legislature elected Mills to the U. S. Senate, succeeding Sen. Horace Chilton. Increasingly, silver coinage was a popular issue among farmers across the South and Midwest as farmers were desperate to reverse the tide of collapsing crop prices. They saw monetary inflation as the solution to ending their debt problems. However, eastern bankers opposed silver coinage as it cut into their profits from loans, and eastern factory workers opposed it as it ate into their wages. Loyal to President Grover Cleveland, Mills backed a partial repeal of the 1890 Sherman Silver Purchase Act which sought to add more inflationary silver into the nation's money supply.

Upset at the action, the Texas legislature declined to re-elect him in 1898. When his term ended in March 1899, Mills returned to Texas and resumed his law practice. He died in Corsicana in September 1911 at age 79.
