VFW Post 10429 Commander Receives Recognition

Catherine Roberts, a mother whose son was serving in Iraq in 2003, conceived the idea of awarding a handmade quilt to service men, women and veterans as a way of healing the trauma faced by so many in their service to our nation. To nominate these individuals focuses on those in need of comfort and tranquility. Individuals acknowledged may have never heard the words “Welcome Home.”

Commander Collum’s tours include Incirlik Air Base Turkey, Anderson AFB Guam, Whiteman AFB Missouri and Lackland AFB Texas. Collum was deployed in Operation Desert Storm and Operation Provide Comfort. He is also an All American at the Post.

BMHS and WHHS Volleyball Preview

With the 2024 volleyball season right around the corner, Benbrook and Western Hills are gearing up for what could be a trip to the playoffs for both programs.

The Benbrook volleyball team finished 12-0 in district competition last season and won the district championship.

Coach Frances Davies said she is optimistic about what she has seen from her team as it heads into the non-district/tournament schedule.

“So far, the season is shaping up beautifully,” Davies said. “While we did graduate some major (continued on page 5)

Symone is Available to Adopt!

Tarrant County Experiences Increase in West Nile Activity

Symone (2826) is a sweet, six-month-old Staffordshire mix.

She likes car rides and people but her favorite thing is to sit on the couch and get belly rubs.

She is available for adoption at the Benbrook Animal Shelter, located at 469 Win-scott Road.

Adoption hours are Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Sunday from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. and 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday.

Call Ursula at 4PAWS at 817-262-3086 or Lynda at 682-279-0760, to visit Symone or any of the adoptable dogs.

Tarrant County Public Health (TCPH) has observed a significant increase in West Nile virus (WNV) activity for the 2024 season, which runs from April to November.

In the current 2024 mosquito season, there are 28 human West Nile Disease cases with 24 hospitalized and one death reported. Across the county, 482 mosquito samples have tested positive for WNV. Comparatively, the 2023 season ended with 12 human cases and 244 positive mosquito samples.

TCPH urges residents to prevent, protect and take control against mosquitoes.

“As children are headed back to school, family and sporting activities begin to take place at prime mosquito activity times,” said TCPH Director and Local Health Authority Dr. Brian Byrd. “If you are going to be outside, keep the air moving by using a fan.”

The mosquitoes that transmit West Nile virus are most active during the period as the sun begins to rise and when the sun begins to set.

More Tips to Prevent, Protect and Take Control

• Even on the lowest setting, floor fans can help to keep mosquitoes from landing and biting. Portable hand-held fans can also work well with airflow as low as eight mph.

• Do not leave standing water in pet dishes, saucers of flowerpots or kids toys for more than two days.

• Use “Mosquito Dunks” or “Mosquito Bits” to eliminate mosquito larvae in areas that cannot be drained like bird baths or other ornamental pools.

• Cut down weeds in the yard, paying particular attention to areas that surround the foundation of the house.

• Protect yourself by using EPA-approved repellent.

To keep up-to-date with the status of mosquito traps across Tarrant County, visit our Mosquito Dashboard Map. For more information about West Nile Virus visit the Be Mosquito Free webpage. Sign up for the latest health alert through our TCPH Health Alert Network.

From Texas Department of Licensing and Regulation

Tips For Avoiding Credit Card Skimmers

The Texas Financial Crimes Intelligence Center (FCIC) and the Texas Department of Licensing and Regulation (TDLR) have released a new public service announcement with helpful tips for avoiding possible credit card skimmers in gas pumps.

The video on TDLR's YouTube channel discusses how thieves sometimes attach credit card skimmers on gas pumps to steal payment card information from customers when they purchase fuel.

Most skimmers have been placed deep inside the cabinet and it won't be obvious that something's wrong, but there are still some things consumers can check for before using a credit card at a gas station:

- Look at the pump and cabinet – does it look damaged, or look like it's been tampered with?
- Wiggle the card slot – is it loose?
- Look at the keypad – is it loose or does it look like something has been placed on top of it?

Additional ways consumers can protect themselves:

Always use a credit card, not a debit card, if they're not going to pay cash – this protects the PIN and prevents access to a bank account.

Set card usage or transaction alerts for bank and credit card accounts. Most major banks offer apps that allow real-time monitoring of accounts.

Regularly monitor credit card and bank statements for fraudulent charges or suspicious transactions.

When possible, don't swipe the credit card – use tap to pay or use a trusted payment app on a mobile phone to pay for fuel.

Whether a credit card skimmer is found by a consumer, a service technician or a merchant, the merchant is responsible for immediately notifying law enforcement and disabling all dispensers where skimmers have been located until law enforcement or TDLR investigators can remove the device. Merchants also are required by state law to notify TDLR within 24 hours.

Merchants and consumers should report skimmers via the TDLR website: <https://www.tdlr.texas.gov/Skimmers>.

The FCIC, which coordinates law enforcement investigations into organized financial fraud, was the first statewide unit of its kind in the United States and operates as a partnership between TDLR and the Smith County District Attorney's Office.

TDLR regulates motor fuel metering and quality and collects consumer complaints and merchant reports related to credit card skimmers. The Smith County DA aggressively investigates and prosecutes criminals engaging in organized financial crimes such as fraud related to gasoline pump skimmers.

About TDLR

TDLR provides regulatory oversight for a broad range of occupations, businesses, facilities, and equipment in Texas. The agency protects the health and safety of Texans by ensuring they are served by qualified, licensed professionals. Inspections of individuals, businesses, and equipment are done on a regular basis to safeguard the public. Currently, the agency regulates 38 business and occupational licensing programs with almost 1,000,000 licensees across the state.

From North Central Texas Council of Governments

Regional Transportation Council Discusses High-Speed Rail Route that Would Get Project Back on Track

The Regional Transportation Council (RTC) is considering an alternative path for high-speed rail into Dallas that would divert the last mile of the project west of downtown before continuing to the approved Dallas high-speed rail station, past the southern edge of downtown in the Cedars.

RTC members discussed the alternative, offered by North Central Texas Council of Governments staff members, during a work session in July. The RTC heard further details of the plan during the Aug. 8 meeting at the Irving Convention Center, as part of the Infrastructure Summit 2024.

NCTCOG is involved in a National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) review of the proposed Fort Worth-to-Dallas high-speed rail project, which would also include a station in Arlington.

While this western concept being discussed avoids an area of downtown Dallas with great potential for economic development, it loses the opportunity to connect passengers of high-speed rail to and from Houston with the Eddie Bernice Johnson Union Station, the new Kay Bailey Hutchison Convention Center.

The new option being discussed would still connect to the approved Dallas high-speed rail station with planned service to Houston, allowing passengers to board the train in Fort Worth or Arlington and reach Houston without having to change trains, in accordance with the RTC's "one-seat ride" policy.

For information on the workshop and to learn more about the project, visit nctcog.org/dfw-hstcs.

From Meals On Wheels

Tarrant County Meals On Wheels In Need of Volunteers

Meals On Wheels of Tarrant County has an urgent need for meal-delivery volunteers. With the increase in the number of clients along several routes, many could be left without a volunteer to deliver their noontime meals. We currently have 40 open routes desperately in need of volunteers to deliver meals.

"Volunteers are the backbone of what we do," said Carla Jutson, President & CEO. "Not only do they deliver nutritious meals and friendly smiles, but they also provide daily safety checks."

Volunteering takes about one hour, one day a week, Monday through Friday, between 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m.

For more information or to sign up to volunteer in Tarrant County, visit mealsonwheels.org/volunteer or call 817-258-6428.

players, the returners have really been pushing themselves to be stronger and faster. We saw a lot of growth and maturity during spring and summer league, and I think these kids will do big things this season."

Davies said she has a few strong returners from last year's team, including Martha Greene, Gentry Grunden, Zoe Frater and Layla Furundija. The Benbrook coach said the objectives for this season are to continue to do the things that have led to success in the past.

"A successful season for us would be continuing to produce big wins in preseason against the 5 & 6 A's we have scheduled, as well as fighting to take our 5th district championship," Davies said.

Davies said to repeat upon the success it enjoyed last season, her team will need to do a couple of things.

"I think just remembering to always set and play at our level," Davies said. "We need to walk into the gym and set the tempo, and make the other team rise to us."

Over at Western Hills, the Cougars were one spot short of qualifying for the post-season in 2023, and coach Michael Yeager said his young team gained a lot of valuable experience.

"We were rebuilding last year," Yeager said. "We had eight sophomores and two freshman on varsity, and we finished fifth in district. We expect to be very much improved from last year.

Yeager said that Mia Guerrero, Taylor Torres, and Denisse Ceron "will be impact players for us," this coming season. "Guerrero will be a six-rotation player who will lead our hitting attack," Yeager said.

For Yeager, a successful season in 2024 is more than what happens on the court.

"Our success is never measured by wins and losses alone," Yeager said. "We are in the business of mentoring and developing athletes to be successful in the classroom and in life."

That being said, expectations are high for the Cougars heading into 2024.

"It will be a huge disappointment if we are not able to advance into the playoffs," Yeager said. "While we are still a very young team, almost all our players have a year of varsity experience. That experience has allowed them to grow in knowledge of the game, but more importantly, confidence."

American Inventor and Manufacturing Pioneer, Gail Borden

Success is never a straight line. Gail Borden's story is how an Indiana farmboy with almost no formal schooling went from being a Texas revolutionary and editor to a celebrated inventor and wildly successful New York factory owner. The calm and curious man nurtured not only revolution in Texas but a revolution in the food industry.

Gail Borden II was born in Norwich, a remote farming community in southern New York in 1801. As did many farmers and pioneers of the time, the family set out often in pursuit of greener pastures a number of times. The family settled for a short time in Kentucky before moving to Indiana. He had little formal education, save for a few courses in 1816 and 1817, to learn surveying. Many details of his youth are incomplete, but it is apparent that he was very intelligent and very principled.

He and his brother served in the Indiana Militia for a time. In 1822, he was part of a group that saved a freed slave from being lynched. Afterward, with little formal education, Borden was able to land a job as a school teacher in Mississippi. He later also became county surveyor and a deputy federal surveyor. By 1828, he married and started a family.

By 1829, his brother, Thomas Borden, also a surveyor, had moved to Texas and enticed his brother and his family to try their luck in the new land. Borden accepted the challenge and arrived in Galveston on Christmas Eve. He began farming in what is now the Fort Bend County area. Within a few months, Borden was hired by Stephen F. Austin as a surveyor for his growing colony, on the recommendation of his brother.

Things changed quickly in Texas as a great wave of change swept the land. American colonists who had come to Texas grew uneasy at the increasing depredations of an increasingly unstable Mexican government.

In 1832, Borden became part of the committee of correspondence at San Felipe, communicating concerns about Mexico with other Texas communities. He served as a delegate to the Convention of 1833, which included future Texas presidents Sam Houston and David G. Burnet, which called for separate statehood for Texas from the Mexican state of Coahuila y Texas in order for Texans to more directly address their own affairs.

In 1835, Borden began working with his brother Thomas and Joseph Baker, a Maine native and school teacher, to start a newspaper. The Telegraph and Texas Register saw its first edition on Oct. 10. It rose in prominence, essentially becoming the newspaper of record during the days of the Texas Revolution and the Texas Republic. Its editorials rallied the people of Texas during the revolution and called for aid from the United States. In 1836, the paper printed the Texas Declaration of Independence and one of the first copies of the new constitution for the Texas Republic.

After the end of the revolution in 1836, he worked with local officials to plan the layout for the City of Houston. He and his brother sold their stakes in the newspaper in 1837. Borden became the official port collector for Galveston that year. Starting in 1839, he served as an alderman in Galveston and began selling real estate.

He initially tinkered with primitive refrigeration systems, to no avail. Despite efforts by men like Borden and others, modern refrigeration simply did not exist in the 1840s. This made it very difficult to preserve food for long periods. This led him to create a dehydrated meat biscuit by 1849, one designed to stay edible even after long-term storage. Though his invention won praise by fellow inventors, the meat biscuit was not popular with consumers.

He continued inventing, and in 1853, created condensed milk through a vacuum process. This allowed milk to be stored for extended periods, vital for remote areas. Borden's condensed milk was patented in 1856. That year, Borden attempted to produce it in a factory he bought in Connecticut. His effort faltered quickly. In 1857, he reorganized and founded "Gail Borden, Jr. and Co." to produce condensed milk. The company still struggled.

In 1858, entrepreneur Jeremiah Milbank gained a 50 percent partnership in the company, giving it the funds needed. The company was renamed the New York Condensed Milk Company.

The new company slowly started finding customers. When the Civil War began in 1861, the New York Condensed Milk Company began working with the U.S. Army to sell Borden's condensed milk. Condensed milk allowed troops to store milk without fear of spoiling while maintaining high standards for nutrition.

Though Borden had long since moved to New York and amassed a fortune, Texas was never far from his thoughts. In 1872, the small town of Borden in Colorado County was organized and named for him. Borden donated money to build two schools in the area. Though segregated schools were the law at the time, Borden built a white school and an African-American school to provide for the children of both races. He continued to support these and other schools. He donated money to build five churches in the area and gave extensively to other charities.

He died in January 1874 at the age of 72. Afterward, the state legislature created Borden County, south of Lubbock, in 1876, named in his honor.

The county seat, Gail, also named for Borden, was founded in 1890.
