Bobcat Wrestling Teams Win at FWISD Tournament

The Benbrook MHS wrestling team competed in the Fort Worth ISD Championship this past week, and coach Wade Cribbs said that event went “really well,” for his teams.

“It has grown tremendously, with over 100 more wrestlers than last year,” Cribbs said. “The Benbrook boys and girls teams both won, making it three years in a row they’ve been tournament Champions.”

Nadia Borjas and Kas Stevens were both tournament champions on the girls side, while Erik Morrison, Dominic Nunez, Landry Wilkinson, Desmond Chambers, Jacob Carpenter and Jayden Nunez were all tournament champions on the boys side.

“The season is starting off well,” Cribbs said. “We’re just battling some injuries and still getting our football kids back into the fold.”

On the court, the Bobcat boys basketball team competed in the Godley Tournament this past weekend and coach Blake Mendez said his team showed some promising signs.

The Bobcats won two games in the tournament, but Mendez said the final record was not necessarily indicative of how things unfolded.

“Godley hosted a great tournament,” Mendez said. “The competition is exactly what we needed to see. We ended up 2-2, but felt like we should have been playing in the championship game. Our two losses were by a combined 7 points and we had leads late in both games. We just need to do a better job protecting those leads.”

Mendez said he did have a standout performance in the tournament.

Christmas and New Year's Drivers Urged to Move Over or Slow Down for Tow Trucks and Other Emergency Vehicles

If you see tow trucks and other emergency vehicles stopped on the side of the road with their emergency lights activated, do you know what to do?

Texas law requires drivers to slow down at least 20 miles per hour under the posted speed limit or, if able, to change lanes when they're passing a first responder stopped on the roadside.

Large numbers of travelers are expected on Texas roads during the Christmas and New Year's holidays and chances are, they may break down, get involved in crashes or be stopped by law enforcement. Pay attention to what's happening around you and be prepared to react quickly.

TDLR regulates tow truck companies and tow truck drivers, driver education and driving safety courses, and motorcycle safety courses, and as always, the agency asks all drivers to please slow down or move over when you see emergency vehicles stopped on the side of the road.

Tow truck drivers work hard every day to help people who are stranded on the side of the road. And, like everyone else, they are anxious to return home safely each night. Holiday memories are made when family gathers. Please do your part to make that happen for all.

Safety tips for driving this holiday season:

- Slow down and pay attention to what you're doing. If you get tired, pull over in a safe spot and walk around to re-energize.
- Don't drink and drive, even a little bit.

- Designate a (sober) driver.
 - Stay off the mobile phone – this includes texting. Designate a “co-pilot” to oversee the phone while you're driving so you can concentrate on the task at hand.
 - Buckle up – all occupants of the vehicle, every trip – no matter how short. Most traffic crashes happen close to home.
 - Traveling by motorcycle? Wear a helmet.
 - Stay weather-aware. If it's snowy or icy, you'll need to slow down significantly so you don't slide on unexpected icy spots. If it's raining heavily, turn around and don't drown if water is running across the road. Only two feet of rushing water can sweep away a vehicle.
 - Leave plenty of time to get to your destination. Roadways are likely to be crowded.
- Drive friendly – the Texas way!

Christmas Tree Lighting & Fireworks Show Draws Crowd

ment for us," Mendez said.

"He found is stroke from the three this weekend which will be huge for us moving into district."

With district set to start this coming week, Mendez said his team is seasoned and ready to roll

"I feel like our non-district schedule was exactly what we needed to see," Mendez said. "We saw a variety of teams that play different styles of basketball, which mirrors our district. We played a lot of close games that hopefully will help us when we tip off district play."

On the girl's side, the Lady Cats went 1-1 last week in their first two games of district competition, defeating Diamond Hill-Jarvis on Tuesday and losing to Southwest on Friday.

Coach Leta Lofton said last week was a mixed bag for her team. "The Lady cats used defense and ball control to defeat Diamond Hill on Tuesday," Lofton said. "Going into the game 1-0 in District 4A against Southwest with a full head of steam and with confidence we fell short due to the vacancy of 2 players, which left us short-handed. Without an additional guard play we gave into the Southwest's ball pressure and looking for answers. Too many turnovers and too little on the offensive end left us on the short end of a win."

Lofton said she had a couple of strong efforts in the games. "Our captain Grace Klaerner continues to lead our team in outstanding fashion," Lofton said. "Point guard Giuliana Lucero is continuing to get stronger on the offensive end of the court with 16 points versus Diamond Hill. Post Maddie Blocker is beginning to join the offensive party with 10 points versus Diamond Hill."

Post Juliana Velasquez led the way offensively against Southwest with 11 points.

Benbrook plays Eastern Hills this evening, and Lofton said she expects a tough game.

"Eastern hills will be difficult to defeat," Lofton said. "With all their players returning from last year's playoff team, this will be a tall order. However, although tough, with our team cohesion we should be able to handle what is thrown at us."

Benbrook City Hall will be closed Tuesday, Dec. 24, Wednesday, Dec. 25 and also on Wednesday, Jan. 1, 2025.

Texas History Minute by Dr. Ken Bridges

The History of Charles M. Schulz's Christmas Classic

Charles M. Schulz created a comic strip that captured the hearts of millions in the nearly 50 years that Peanuts ran in thousands of newspapers around the world. Schulz, an amiable and soft-spoken Minnesota native and World War II veteran, had been drawing the daily strip since 1950. Fifteen years later, he would be responsible for a Christmas story that has since become a cultural icon. But it was almost entirely by accident.

In April 1965, executives at the Coca-Cola Company contacted their advertising agency, McCann-Erickson in New York, and asked if there were any Christmas specials they could sponsor that winter, still months away. The ad agency immediately suggested an adaptation of Schulz's Peanuts strip even though none had even been proposed and Schulz had not even thought of the idea.

Within days, Schulz, along with producer Lee Mendelson and animator Bill Melendez, produced a story outline. Executives at CBS agreed to air the special but only gave it a budget of $76,000 (or $768,000 in 2024 dollars).

In spite of the special's purpose of advertising Coca-Cola, Schulz chose a storyline that was critical of crass profiteering and emphasizing the simple message of the Christmas spirit. By the early 1960s, many cultural commentators had already criticized the commercialization of Christmas and the emphasis on gifts and holiday spending. In 2023, Americans spent hundreds of billions on Christmas by one estimate, so much that many businesses depend on brisk Christmas shopping to stay afloat. The number is likely to be repeated in 2024.

In the storyline that emerged, inspired by strips that Schulz had run previously, the main character Charlie Brown was feeling disconnected and depressed as Christmas approached. Everyone around Brown made demands on receiving extravagant gifts, including his sister, Sally, asking Santa Claus in a letter to make it simple by just sending "$10s and $20s."

As part of directing a Christmas play, Charlie Brown and his friend Linus, a blanket-toting theologian, attempt to buy a Christmas tree. The two find a lot filled with the aluminum Christmas trees that had become popular by the early 1960s. Thinking the aluminum trees were too superficial, Charlie Brown chose the one live tree available - a small, dilapidated sapling. Mocked by his friends about his choice of tree later, he asked what the meaning of Christmas was, prompting Linus to quote Luke 2:8-14 from the Bible, on the birth of Christ.

"And that's what Christmas is all about, Charlie Brown," Linus said to Charlie Brown, satisfied and inspired by the answer.

The network, studio executives, and advertisers were reluctant to include the monologue. The biggest question they had was whether it was in good taste to take a scriptural message so special to millions of Americans and turn it into a cartoon.

Television had only been widely available for a little over a decade by the 1960s. Television animation had been around for almost as long, but critics did not see it as very sophisticated. Schulz, however, insisted that the scene be included.

In the process, it became the first time the Bible was quoted in a television cartoon.

Animators worked feverishly to produce the thousands of images needed for a cartoon before the deadline. With 12 images needed each second for a 25-minute special, their work was cut out for them as each needed to be drawn and colored by hand. Children auditioned to voice the characters with 8-year-old Peter Robbins cast as Charlie Brown and Christopher Shea as Linus, who would both repeat their roles in future specials. CBS executives were uncertain how audiences would react to the cartoon, trying without success to convince Schulz, Mendelson, and Melendez to make changes to the production, already over budget.

A Charlie Brown Christmas aired on Dec. 9, 1965. More than 15.5 million households watched. It immediately became a classic. The heartwarming message that Christmas was more than about shopping became a comfortable reminder for millions. The special won an Emmy Award in 1966. It had such a profound impact on American culture that aluminum Christmas trees ceased to be made by 1968. In the following years, the special was translated into numerous other languages and broadcast in countries around the world. CBS agreed to produce more Peanuts cartoons, averaging about one per year into the 1990s. And a slew of other Christmas specials, inspired by the Peanuts success, would follow in the years afterward.

With the popularity of A Charlie Brown Christmas, CBS would air the special each December until 2000 when it was picked up by ABC for a few years afterward. Now, it is broadcast on digital streaming networks.

Nearly 60 years after the first airing, it is still a program enjoyed by millions of children and also parents and grandparents who grew up watching it. Its simple message criticizing the commercialization of the holiday and emphasizing the true meaning of Christmas still resonates in the twenty-first century as countless people continue to look to Christmas as a time of family and togetherness.
