From Castleberry ISD

Castleberry ISD Continues to Offer Full Day Pre-Kindergarten for 2022-2023 School Year

Castleberry ISD will continue to offer full day pre-kindergarten (pre-k) and kindergarten for the 2022-2023 school year.

Pre-registration for the district's pre-k and kindergarten programs opens online Friday, April 1. Parents who prefer to register their child in-person are encouraged to attend a pre-registration event at A.V. Cato Elementary, Castleberry Elementary or Joy James Academy of Leadership on Tuesday, April 5 from 5:30 until 7 p.m. The in-person pre-registration event is optional for those who pre-register their child online. Parents must finalize the registration process beginning Monday, May 2 to ensure their child is registered for the 2022-2023 school year.

Children enrolling in pre-k must be 4 years old on or before Sept. 1, 2022. Castleberry ISD's free pre-kindergarten program is available to all children, whether they live within the district boundaries or not. Even if your child does not meet the federal qualifying guidelines for a pre-k program, he or she can still attend pre-k in Castleberry ISD.

For more information about pre-k at Castleberry ISD, visit the district's pre-k open enrollment web page.

Children enrolling in kindergarten must be 5 years old on or before Sept. 1, 2022. The pre-registration process for kindergarten students who live within district boundaries or reside outside the district begins April 1. Parents must finalize the registration process beginning Monday, May 2 to ensure their child is registered for the 2022-2023 school year.

Students who live outside the district may apply for an Out of District Transfer during pre-registration to be considered for this program.

For more information about kindergarten at Castleberry ISD, visit the district's Kindergarten Pre-Registration web page.

Registration for all other students attending Castleberry ISD for the 2022-2023 school year opens on Monday, May 2. Visit the district's Enrollment web page for more information.

automotive fluids, batteries, household cleaners and chemicals, cooking oil, lawn/garden and pool chemicals, light bulbs and paint/painting supplies.

Unacceptable items are: ammunition and explosives, appliances and electronics, building materials, bulk trash and yard waste, butane/propane cylinders, medical waste, tires and asbestos/PCBs and radioactive items.

Business, commercial and industrial waste cannot be accepted under Texas regulations.

If you have questions about a specific waste not listed above or call 817-392-EASY to find out if it's accepted.

Additional instructions for disposing of waste:

• If a product is still usable, give it to someone who can use it instead of bringing it for disposal.

• Bring a recent water bill as proof of residency.

• Bring liquid paint sorted by type (i.e. latex, oil-based, and lead-based).

• Keep chemicals in their original containers; place broken or leaking containers in a second container of like material (i.e. glass for corrosives, metal for flammables).

• If a container has no label and its contents are known, please place a label on the container clearly stating the contents.

• Do not transport chemicals in the passenger compartment of your vehicle. Put them in the trunk.

Also, included at that event will be paper shredding and electronic recycling.

Benbrook Quilt Club-Project Linus Resumes Monthly Meetings; Volunteers Needed

The Benbrook Quilt Club will hold its first meeting, after almost two years of cancelling meetings due to safety concerns about Covid, on Saturday, March 26 from 1 to 4 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall at First Baptist Church of Benbrook, located at 1015 McKinley Street.

Normal monthly meetings will continue on the last Saturday of every month at this same time and location. Volunteers have been busy sewing for the club at their homes while unable to gather together. We are really excited to be able to come together again to enjoy great fellowship as we work together to make quilts for Project Linus. Face masks are not required but are suggested for anyone with underlying health concerns.

The members of this group are Tarrant County Chapter Project Linus blanketeers creating handmade quilts and blankets that provide love, warmth, and comfort for local children who have suffered trauma, tragedy or illness. Sadly, the need for these blankets increases each month. They desperately need volunteers with portable sewing machines to help assemble the quilts.

Regardless of your experience, there is a place for you. High school students can receive community service credits for participating. Donations of material or money to purchase material are greatly appreciated.

Sewing machines and sergers are also accepted and are sold to purchase material and batting needed to make the quilts and blankets given to sick children, to nursing homes, and to veterans.

Come join the fun and enjoy fellowship with the Quilt Club volunteers while making a difference in our community and being a blessing to others.

For more information about the mission of Project Linus, visit www.projectlinus.org. For more information on this group and meetings, call Virginia Biela at 817-244-1263.

How to Make Tax Season a Breeze

While filing taxes can be anxiety-provoking, there's no need to stress. The right digital tools, along with smart strategies can make tax season a breeze:

File Faster

There are many services to help you e-file your taxes, walking you through each step for a quick, painless way to get your tax return faster. In some cases, you may be able to file for free, or for just a small fee. More accurate than paper filing, e-filing through a service such as TurboTax or TaxAct can offer peace of mind for an audit-free tax season.

Watch for Scams

Scammers are known to use seasonal moments like filing taxes in the spring or insurance enrollment in the fall to prey on unsuspecting people, and these scams are on the rise. In fact, recent T-Mobile network data showed over a 116 percent increase in scam attempts from 2020 to 2021. Here's how to protect yourself:

Be suspicious of unexpected calls. The IRS will never demand immediate payment over the phone or threaten action from law enforcement. You have the right to dispute any charges with the IRS.

Don't answer unknown numbers. Even if the number on your phone looks legitimate, if you suspect it's a scam, let it go to voicemail. If it sounds too good to be true, it might be a scam. If you need to return the call, don't call the number provided, instead, locate the customer service number online.

Beware of Facebook messages. Scammers can also contact you by email, text and social media. Know that the IRS will never contact you through these channels.

Get scam call protection. Today, most major wireless providers have tools to help customers prevent scam calls.

Use Your Tax Return Wisely

Whether you owe the government money or have a tax return coming your way, it's a good time of year to think about where you can make smart budgeting decisions and save.

With some smart planning and know-how, you can have a pain-free tax season and financially-savvy year.

From the Tarrant Area Food Bank

Tarrant Area Food Bank Partners with the City of Arlington to Kick Off Arrival of R.E.D. Bus Saturday

The Tarrant Area Food Bank (TAFB), in partnership with the City of Arlington, is unveiling the Resources and Education Delivered (R.E.D.) Bus, providing community resource assistance, nutrition education, and healthy food options to Arlington communities with high levels of food insecurity.

The R.E.D. Bus will make its first official stop for a ribbon cutting ceremony and grand opening of a new school pantry, The Mustang Market, at Nichols Junior High (parking lot) 2201 Ascension Blvd. Arlington, TX 76006 from 10 a.m. to noon on Saturday, March 26.

Tarrant Area Food Bank is launching this initiative to bring their services directly to those most in need in the city of Arlington.

At the heart of this program is an ADA-compliant mobile service delivery unit, the R.E.D. Bus, a specially-built vehicle, which provides space for the display and distribution of grocery items and office space for TAFB staff to conduct SNAP enrollment and other community service referrals.

"As we continue to provide community support to relieve the effects of the pandemic, we are deepening our roots in Arlington by launching solutions that bring our services to the people in underserved communities where transportation may be lacking," said Julie Butner, President and CEO of Tarrant Area Food Bank, "TAFB will provide emergency food boxes, nutrition education, as well as facilitate enrollment of eligible families into federal benefits programs such as SNAP and Medicaid with our R.E.D. Bus".

The R.E.D. Bus will serve approximately 5,000 low-income residents and family members per month.

TAFB will serve individuals of all ages and is working directly with the City of Arlington to identify specific community neighborhoods based on income and food insecurity data.

The R.E.D. Bus will make multiple stops in a single day, connecting families to food, SNAP benefits and additional community resources to address housing, education, and employment.

Texas History Minute by Dr. Ken Bridges

Confederate General and U.S. Senator, Samuel B. Maxey

The Civil War era produced many interesting figures in Texas History. Among them was Samuel B. Maxey, a lawyer, Confederate general, and U. S. Senator.

Samuel Bell Maxey was born in 1825 in southern Kentucky. His father, Rice Maxey, was an attorney. He attended school faithfully, and in 1842, he was selected to attend the U.S. Military Academy at West Point. His roommate was Stonewall Jackson and attended classes with Ulysses S. Grant. He struggled academically at West Point but graduated in 1846 as a second lieutenant.

As his class graduated, the United States was entering the war with Mexico. Maxey was assigned to an infantry unit in Monterey. He saw action in some of the fiercest battles of the Mexican War and was cited for his bravery and promoted to first lieutenant. As the war ended, Maxey was assigned to a police unit as the U. S. Army occupied Mexico City. Once the peace treaty with Mexico was signed, Maxey was reassigned to a post in Missouri. He resigned from the army in 1849 and returned to Kentucky.

He decided to follow in his father's footsteps and become an attorney. He studied law under his father, a common arrangement in a time when there were few law schools. He was admitted to the Kentucky bar in 1851 and joined his father's law practice. He married in 1853 and moved to Texas with his father and bride in 1857.

They settled in Lamar County, just south of Paris, where they established a thriving law practice. In 1858, he was elected district attorney for Lamar County. When the Civil War approached, he was elected to the secession convention in 1861 and supported Texas joining the Confederacy. He was elected to the state senate but declined the position in order to raise an infantry regiment for the South. His father served in the state senate instead. He organized the Ninth Infantry Regiment near Bonham as its colonel, enlisting more than a thousand men. However, he was soon reassigned. He was promoted to brigadier general in 1862 and participated in the Battle of Port Hudson in Louisiana in 1863.

He was reassigned later in 1863 to take military command of the Indian Territory (present-day Oklahoma), where he worked with the tribes allied to the Confederacy against the Union government. He organized raids on Union incursions into the area, seizing supplies and preventing a possible Union invasion of Texas from the North.

In February 1865, Maxey was ordered to Houston to take command of a division stationed in the area. By the time he arrived, the war was nearly over. Confederate units were retreating in all directions, shortages of food and ammunition were everywhere, and the troops all saw the writing on the wall. Many of Maxey's troops decided the Confederacy was a lost cause and deserted. By the end of April, the Confederate government in Richmond had collapsed, Gen. Robert E. Lee and most other generals had surrendered, and Confederate President Jefferson Davis was on the run. He asked the remaining Confederate officials in Texas to resign, and he left his post in May. Upon his return to Paris, he surrendered to Union officers who had already made their way to the area.

After the end of the war, he enlisted the help of his old classmate Gen. Grant to apply for a pardon from the federal government, which was granted in 1867. He resumed his legal work and attempted a run for office. In 1872, he ran for Congress but lost the Democratic nomination. Gov. Edmund J. Davis, though a former Union general and a Republican, was impressed by Maxey and offered him a position as a judge. Maxey declined, feeling his legal work had created too many conflicts of interest.

In 1874, a new Democratic legislature had taken control in Austin. As state legislators still chose United States Senators at this point, they selected Maxey for the Senate. His tenure in the Senate was somewhat lackluster but he managed several successes involving transportation and infrastructure. He served on the committee on post offices and post roads where he expanded post offices across Texas, speeding up commerce and communications across the frontier areas, gained aid for improving the state's harbors along the Gulf of Mexico, and gained federal support for expanding the railroad network across the state. He also helped establish a stagecoach route between Fort Worth and Yuma, Arizona. He was re-elected in 1880.

He attempted a third term in 1886. Instead, Congressman John H. Reagan of Palestine, an eight-term congressman and former Confederate postmaster general, was selected by the state legislature to replace Maxey. Maxey accepted the decision and quietly returned to Texas in 1887.

Upon his arrival in Paris, Maxey resumed his law practice. He would eventually bring on two nephews as partners. In 1892, he retired from the law firm. His health was declining, and he traveled to Eureka Springs, Arkansas, in 1895 for the recuperative warm springs, but he died there at age 70.

In 1942, the United States Army opened Camp Maxey near Paris as a training center, but closed it after World War II ended. Maxey's home is considered a state historical site.

Pig Roast at VFW Post 10429

A pig roast was held recently at the Post with several participants attending.

The occasion was in honor of State of Texas Sr. Vice Commander Lynn Toomer, who will be the new 2022-2023 State Of Texas Commander for his Homecoming Oct. 6 through Oct. 8, 2022.

A 50/50 drawing and raffles were available for purchase. The menu included, of course, a roasted pig with all the trimmings; and entertainment was provided by Taylor Bonham Band.

Lynn Toomer's time in war included Kuwait, Iraq and Somalia. Toomer has received the Bronze Star, Combat Action Ribbon, Southwest Asia Expeditor Medal and numerous other distinguished awards.

State of Texas VFW Commander Norm Macey also made an appearance. The crowd enjoyed fun, fellowship and great music!

Rhonda McCullogh and Taylor Bonham provided the music.

Several individuals enjoyed the event.
