From MedStar

Crash Responder Safety Awareness Week Observed Nov. 14-18

During Crash Responder Safety Week, MedStar asks drivers to respect our roadside heroes by observing safe driving practices

Nov. 14 through 18 is National Crash Responder Safety Awareness Week.

Over the past 12 months, MedStar and our area police, fire, towing and roadside support service partners responded to 13,514 motor vehicle crashes, that's an average of 37 crashes per day!

Collectively, traffic incident responders work to assist road users in need, applying well-rehearsed procedures to provide emergency traffic control and quickly clear incidents from roadways.

During many of these responses, we stand roadside with cars and trucks going by as fast as 80 miles per hour or more.

We want drivers to understand the risks that we take every day, and the importance of slowing down and moving over when they pass.

During National Crash Responder Safety Awareness Week, we want to remind drivers to promote slow down, and move over to protect these responders!

When passing an incident scene, motorists are asked to slow down and, if possible, move over into an adjacent lane to provide a protective buffer for responders and the motorists behind you.

Preventing Scams and Fraud this Holiday Season

Scams and fraud are more deceiving these days, reaching you in more ways than ever before. The FTC reported 2.8 million fraud reports from consumers in 2021 alone, with reported fraud losses increasing 70 percent from 2020 and more than $5.8 million.

Scammers begin their traditional uptick at the start of the holiday season, and identity theft protection expert Carrie Kerskie says being aware of what new cyber and phone fraud trends to look out for is your biggest defense against unwanted fraud.

“The more that we can get this information out there the better,” Kerskie recently reported, “Unfortunately when it comes to technology, privacy and identity theft, the same old advice that was given 10, 15 years ago is still the gospel of what you’re supposed to do. And that is outdated. None of it works. It’s not true, it’s not relevant anymore.”

Scammers have expanded from targeting consumers with only traditional email and phone calls. The most recent trending scams are occurring using person-to-person payment platforms or P2P, remote access software and even public Wi-Fi.

Kerskie says the most desirable accounts to criminals include bank accounts, mobile phone accounts, credit card accounts and Amazon accounts. Now, with P2P payment platforms, criminals can get access to your bank account and use it to transfer money within moments.

The latest tactic that concerns Kerskie is using remote access software to gain access to everything on your computer without having to directly ask you for things like your social security number, bank account or credit card number. While many workers use remote access software safely from their companies’ IT departments, criminals are also using this software in their scams.

Criminals also try to access your information in settings like coffee shops or libraries using public Wi-Fi. A laptop or smartphone using public Wi-Fi can easily fall victim to scams. An easy fix is to use your smartphone’s wireless data and hotspot to help keep your personal information secure.

Kerskie says there are ways to keep scammers and fraud at bay ahead of the holiday shopping season.

1. Prioritize Privacy. Kerskie says, if it’s easy for you, it’s easy for a criminal. Privacy means having strong and unique passwords with a minimum of 12 characters, and for pins using random numbers and taking advantage of extra security. Enabling multi-factor authentication on your various apps and accounts will also protect yourself from potential threats.

2. Use Available Resources. Take advantage of the free anti-fraud safeguards offered by mobile carriers. In the case of T-Mobile's Scam Shield, services include enhanced caller ID, scam ID and blocking, which flags suspicious calls and gives customers the option of blocking those numbers. Additionally, customers can get a free second number to keep their personal number personal, or even change their primary number completely.

3. Validate or Eliminate. Whatever potential threat you come across via email, text message, letter or even a phone call, try to validate the information. If you cannot confirm the information is true or confirm the senders’ validity, throw it away, block the phone number or email address and report it as spam or junk mail.

Understanding how potential cyber threats and fraud work will help protect you this holiday season and beyond.

Texas Statesman, José Antonio Navarro by Dr. Ken Bridges

The Navarro Family played an important role in the early, formative years of Texas.

Angel Navarro was an important early political leader in San Antonio, service that paved the way for his son. José Antonio Navarro, a leader of the Texas Revolution and in the early Republic of Texas, was inspired for a life of service by his father. In turn, he would inspire his own children and citizens across the state.

Navarro was born in San Antonio in 1795. He was one of 12 children, only six of whom survived to adulthood. His father, Angel Navarro, was a generous and popular figure in San Antonio. However, he died in 1808 when the younger Navarro was only 13.

His father's worldly adventures, success, dedication to his family, and the deep respect the people of San Antonio had for his father had a profound impact on the younger Navarro. Angel Navarro was born into a wealthy family in Corsica, just south of France in the Mediterranean Sea. His mother was a noble, and his father was a businessman. But in 1762, at the age of 14, he ran away from home to seek a life of adventure.

After a series of wild escapades between Corsican revolutionaries and seedy ports combined with a series of odd jobs, he made his way to the New World. He arrived in San Antonio by 1777, where he established his own successful business enterprises. He was the city's first elected alcalde in 1790, a position that under Spanish law was a combination of mayor and judge.

Jose Navarro grew up determined to live up to his father's legacy. He trained to become an attorney. In 1813, San Antonio was briefly occupied by forces of the ill-fated Gutierrez-Magee Expedition, a brief effort to tear Texas away from the faltering Spanish occupation and annex it to the United States. Navarro supported the revolt, but was forced to flee to the United States for three years after Spanish forces rallied and defeated the expedition.

In the 1820s, he had developed a friendship with Stephen F. Austin and began helping him with his colonization efforts. By the 1830s, he was a popular voice for Texas. He first won election to the Coahuila y Texas state legislature and then to Mexico's federal Congress. He also served as a land commissioner, helping settlers into the new land.

He became increasingly critical of Mexico's policies toward Texas. He openly supported the Texas Revolution when the war erupted. In 1836, he signed the Texas Declaration of Independence. He supported the initial attempt at annexation to the United States in 1836, but was disappointed when the United States declined out of fear of provoking Mexico into war. In 1838, he was elected to the Texas Congress, representing Bexar County. He supported policies attempting to expand trade outlets for Texas, defending Texas against continued reprisals from Mexico, and defending the rights of Hispanics, which were under mounting assaults.

In 1841, he participated in the disastrous Santa Fe Expedition. Texas President Mirabeau Lamar had hoped to tap into trade with New Mexico to expand the reach of Texas. However, New Mexico was deep into Mexican territory. Troops captured Navarro and the caravan. After being imprisoned in Veracruz for more than a year, Navarro managed to escape and return to Texas by mid-1843.

Navarro returned to politics and was a delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1845, which completed Texas's first state constitution. After statehood, he served two terms in the state senate.

In honor of his work for the state, the Texas legislature named Navarro County after him in 1846. Navarro himself founded the county seat of Corsicana in 1848, named in honor of his father's homeland and now a thriving city of nearly 24,000 residents.

His four sons served in the Confederate army during the Civil War, and one son later served in the state legislature, continuing a tradition of public service.

Navarro spent his later years writing and ranching near Seguin. The site has since become a historical landmark. He died in San Antonio in January 1871 at the age of 75. At a statue at the Navarro County Courthouse in Corsicana, he is described as a "Lover of Liberty; Foe of Despotism" – a fitting epitaph to a man who dedicated his life to Texas.
