Bear Basketball: Boys and Girls Push Through to Post Season

The Brewer boy's basketball team won it's 28th game of the season last week with a 43-37 victory over Granbury, and found themselves one win away from a perfect 12-0 district record.

Coach Jason Porostovsky said it was not the greatest effort from his team in the first half.

"We did not play very crisply on the offense end in the first half," Porostovsky said. "We missed several free throws and solid looks. We could not get comfortable. Credit to Granbury. Our defensive effort kept us in the game trailing 15-18 at half. In the second half, our defense picked up even more as well as our offense allowing us to build decent cushion and win the game."

Julian Perez had 17 points in the game, while Warren King finished with 8 points and Javier Espino had 10 rebounds for the Bears.

Porostovsky said in an interview on Saturday that a victory in it's season finale against Wichita Falls Rider on Tuesday would be a coup for his team.

"I think its important to go undefeated, and I believe our kids want that as well," Porostovsky said. "District play is always a grind. We had to win on the road in hostile environments each night. Going undefeated just shows the grit this team possesses."

With the playoffs approaching, Porostovsky said he is feeling good about how is team is competing.

filled event will have something to hook the whole family. Two of the event's biggest attractions are the Orvis Big Trout Contest and the Coffee & Caddis Fly Tying Area. Open fishing for fly and bait fishing will also be available in designated areas.

"We are still trying to iron out some things so that we can be playing our best basketball as we enter this third season."

On the girl's side, the Lady Bears defeated Azle to finish out the regular season, and coach Teranie Lewis said she was happy to see her team finished out strong.

"The girls stayed focused even though they had won the district title in the previous game," Lewis said.

Lewis said that Eryn McKinzie and Chania Price played well against the Lady Hornets.

Brewer wrapped up the regular season with a 26-3 overall record, an 11-1 mark in district competition and ranked No. 8 in the state according to Max Preps among 5A programs.

Lewis said she could not be more happy with how the regular season unfolded.

"I am very satisfied with the regular season as a whole," Lewis said. "I think it has prepared us for the playoffs. The girls have worked hard, stayed focus and tuned in with each other and the coaches. I'm really impressed this season with how they bounce back from adversity each time that it comes - whether after a loss, in the midst of a close game or just me getting on them really tough in practice. "That's something we have discussed a lot throughout this season to prepare for those tough moments in games."

How to Be a Nurturing Plant Parent in Three Easy Steps

Plants add color, life and vibrancy to your home's indoor and outdoor spaces and can even improve indoor air quality. However, if you are new to plant ownership, you may be wondering how to make your foliage thrive.

Here's are three tips for healthier plants:

1. Make a move: Many plants that do well outdoors in the warmer months can't tolerate the cold, so don't wait for sub-freezing temperatures to bring planters indoors for the season.

Be sure to give your newly-transported plants the right amount of light. This may require using special grow lights. Keep in mind though that different types of plants thrive better with different color spectrums and intensities, so group plants under the right lights accordingly.

If your indoor air is dry in winter, you may find that misting the leaves of your warm climate and tropical plants will help provide needed humidity.

2. Prevent pests: Unfortunately, keeping houseplants often attracts insects that can harm them and bug you, but there are steps you can take to prevent a pest problem in your home. One important thing you can do is to be sure you are not overwater-ing plants. Too much water in effect drowns plants. It can also create standing water that becomes a breeding ground for flying insects. You can also provide round-the-clock protection from fruit flies, gnats and flies by plugging a Zevo Flying Insect Trap into a regular outlet near your plants and wherever flying insects enter your home or gather. Rather than chemical insecticides, the traps use multi-spectrum light technology to attract flying bugs into a discreet glue sheet cartridge. When the cartridge is full, replace it and toss the used one without ever having to touch a dead bug.

3. Know your lifestyle and limitations: There are many plant species that while beautiful, don't require much care. So, if you're new to owning plants, consider starting out with lower-maintenance options, such as succulents or snake plants, because these plants don't need much water, they are also great options for those who travel frequently or those who are simply forgetful.

Have furry friends? Always check whether a given plant is toxic to pets before bringing one home.

Having a green thumb can seem like magic. However, with the right tools and knowledge, anyone can become a nurturing plant parent.

American Banker, Civic Leader, and Four-Term Mayor of Dallas - R. L. Thornton

by Dr. Ken Bridges

Sometimes the men dismissed for their failures early in life can become the greatest successes. The story of R.L. Thornton is the story of a man raised in poverty and with barely an eighth grade education became synonymous with the success of Dallas in the 1950s.

Robert Lee Thornton was born in 1880 in Hamilton County, just west of Waco. His parents were farmers. In 1887, the family had their land stolen from them in a title dispute. As a result, they lost absolutely everything and were left in deep poverty.

They moved to Ennis, just south of Dallas, where the young Thornton helped the family by picking cotton and taking whatever work he could find. As a result his education was sporadic, and he quit school after the eighth grade. He continued to work odd jobs until he was hired as a store clerk.

Determined to make something of his life, Thornton attempted to restart his education by taking a business course in Dallas. After one course, around 1904, he tried his hand at sales, becoming a traveling salesman in Oklahoma for a candy company. His success was lackluster, so he tried to start his own business. Thornton's first attempt, a stationery business, folded quickly. He quickly started a mortgage company, but it, too, failed.

Thornton tried again in 1916, starting a bank with two other partners. Thornton served as president of the Dallas County State Bank, later the Mercantile National Bank, for 30 years. The bank found early success by capitalizing on a new type of consumer loan for bankers – automobiles. America had fallen in love with the car by the 1920s, and Thornton became an immense success by becoming one of the first North Texas bankers to offer car loans. Soon, other businesses were asking him to serve as an executive with their businesses as well.

By 1933, the business community honored him by naming him president of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce. He was intensely active in Dallas civic affairs, serving with many charitable organizations. He helped bring the 1936 Texas Centennial Exposition to Dallas's Fair Park area, adding permanent exhibits to the area. From 1945 to 1960, he also served as president of the Texas State Fair.

In 1952, at the age of 72, Thornton was ready for new adventure as he ran for Dallas mayor. Already known as “Mr. Dallas” for his many accomplishments for the city, he won the election easily.

Though Dallas and neighboring Fort Worth were intense business rivals at this time, the need for a modern highway connecting the business districts of the two growing cities was clear. Thornton pushed through the Dallas-Fort Worth Turnpike, which later became Interstate 30, which opened in 1957 and became an immediate success.

In 1957, the city also completed the new Dallas Memorial Auditorium, which eventually became one of the largest convention centers in the world. The city completed important renovations and expansions to Love Field.

Housing construction boomed while business leaders unveiled a string of ambitious development plans. “Keep the dirt flying” became Thornton's slogan for an ambitious city. Dallas's population increased dramatically, from just over 450,000 at the beginning of his term to nearly 700,000 by 1961.

In 1960, at the age of 80, he declined to seek another term as mayor. He entered into a quiet retirement in 1961 before his death three years later.

Thornton today is perhaps best remembered in the North Texas area as the namesake for the R. L. Thornton Freeway, a stretch of Interstate 35 East through Dallas as well as the city's R.L. Thornton Elementary School.
