WSPD Receives Community Safety & Flock Safety Solved Awards

The White Settlement Police Department recently received the 2024 Community Safety Award during the International Association of Chiefs of Police Annual Conference. The award recognizes leading agencies across the policing profession who make significant investments in using technology to build stronger and safer communities. This award recognized Chief of Police Christopher Cook (pictured above, center) and the Police Department for their StarChase pursuit mitigation tool.

In January, the department rolled out new vehicle-mounted GPS launchers to assist officers during high-risk car chases. The department continues to expand the number of vehicles that are included in the program, with the White Settlement Crime Control and Prevention District and City Council approving five additional vehicles to add StarChase technology in the Fiscal Year 2025 budget.

“Our team was honored to receive the 2024 Community Safety Award,” said Chief Cook. “We have been working hard to reduce risks to our officers and community that naturally occur during vehicle pursuits. This technology has been instrumental in reducing liability, managing risks, and safeguarding lives.”

High School Football: Brewer Bears Defeat Panthers

The Brewer football team defeated Keller Fossil Ridge by a score of 17-7 on Thursday night to even it's district record at 3-3 and keep it's playoff hopes alive and well.

Coach Jason Wheeler said the victory over the Panthers last Thursday was important to the Bears' post-season aspirations, and said he was pleased with the way his players performed.

“We were proud of the kids and the way they were able to find a way to win,” Wheeler said. “The defense held it down until the offense was able to get something” (continued on page 2)

Wheeler said he did have a couple of players really step it up in the game.

“Kam Coleman had another good game,” Wheeler said. “The offensive line played well again, and Jordan Anderson made some big tackles for loss as did Lucas Galloway.”

Coleman finished the game with 134 yards rushing and two touchdowns in the game.

White Settlement ISD reserves the right to accept or reject any or all proposals.

p.m. on Nov. 1 and Wheeler said this one is going to be tough.

“We expect a physical game with a good football team,” Wheeler said. “We just want to keep looking for opportunities to get better.”

On the court, Brewer came up short against Fossil Ridge last week, and coach Jill Barkey said there was one major underlining issue for her team.

“We lost that game mentally,” Barkey said. “The second, third and fourth set til point 22, we stayed ahead and played aggressively. I'm not sure what shifted, but we started playing less aggressively.”

Barkey said she did have a standout performance in the game against Fossil Ridge.

“Saira Terrazas was our go-to out,” Barkey said. “She did really well controlling the ball and getting us out of some of the plays that got long and a bit chaotic both offensively and defensively.”

Brewer played it's final match of the season on Tuesday night, and Barkey said reflecting on the season as a whole, her feelings are somewhat mixed.

“This season has been tough, as far as our district,” Barkey said. “We are a very talented district. I am so fortunate to coach such incredible young women. Their record doesn't reflect their effort and heart. I would have loved to have done better, and I know they feel the same, but as far as athletes, I couldn't be more proud.”

On the trails, Madison Carroll represented the Bears cross country team in the regional meet last week.

The Brewer freshman finished with a time of 22:21.10 in the girl's 5K event.

First Monday Quilt Club - Project Linus Volunteers Needed

Come join the fun and fellowship with the Quilt Club volunteers while you make a difference by making quilts for Project Linus.

The First Monday Quilt Club meets on the first Monday of each month at Bethany Christian Church, located at 1500 Meadow Park Drive in White Settlement from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Instead of a pot-luck lunch, ladies are asked to bring brunch or snack items. Their next meeting is on Monday, Nov. 4.

Project Linus is a non-profit service organization, and the members of this group are Tarrant County Chapter Project Linus volunteers who create handmade quilts and blankets that provide love, warmth, and comfort for local children who have suffered trauma, tragedy, or illness.

Volunteers also make coverlets for veterans, nursing home residents, and the homeless. Unfortunately, the need for these blankets increases each month. They desperately need volunteers with portable sewing machines to help assemble the quilts.

No experience is needed - there is a place for you. Anyone can help if you can follow instructions, sew, tie a knot, crochet a blanket, or tell a good joke. Volunteers have lots of fun and develop fantastic friendships.

High school students can receive community service credits for participating. Materials (fabric, batting, thread, and yarn) are provided. Donations of fabric, yarn, thread, sewing machines, sergers, or money to purchase materials are greatly appreciated.

For more information about the mission of Project Linus, visit www.projectlinus.org. For more information about the First Monday Quilt Club, call Virginia Biela at 817-244-1263.

Obituary

Nancy Ellen Lampman Houchin

Nancy Ellen Lampman Houchin passed away Monday, Oct. 28, 2024, in Plano, Texas, at the age of 82.

A gathering to honor Nancy's life will be held in Greenwood's Live Oak Chapel, located at 3100 White Settlement Road, Fort Worth, TX 76107, at 9:30 a.m. on Friday, Nov. 1, 2024.

Nancy was born in the summer of 1942, in Amarillo, Texas, the youngest of three children. When her father, Guy Lampman, died unexpectedly when Nancy was only 5, Nancy's mother, Ruby Ruth Taylor Lampman, raised her and her siblings as a single working parent.

In 1961, Nancy married Daniel Houchin. They shared a long marriage until Dan's passing in 2007. Together, they raised two daughters and navigated the ups and downs of family life, often offering support and shelter to family members as well as adolescents going through challenges at home.

Nancy spent 20 years working at the Ben Hogan factory, where she was a proud union member. At one point she earned a promotion into a role previously held only by men. In a display of determination, she hid an injury to prove she could handle the job's demands. Later, after the factory closed, she became a teacher's aide, working with students with significant intellectual and physical disabilities. She remained in that role until her retirement in 2004.

In addition to her work, Nancy was active in her daughters' lives, supporting dance and music activities, and serving as a team mom and scorekeeper for softball teams.

After retirement, Nancy remained close to family members and lived in Fort Worth, Northbrook Illinois, and Plano. While in Fort Worth, she was an active member of Wesley United Methodist Church, including the choir.

Nancy was preceded in death by her parents, Ruby Ruth Taylor Lampman and Guy Lampman; her husband, Daniel Houchin; and her siblings, Laurel Lampman and Jack Lampman.

She is survived by: her daughters, Leslie Hillberry and Dani Houchin; her devoted son-in-law, Todd Hillberry; her grandchildren, Tami Hillberry, Andrew Hillberry, Taylor Petrie, and Rob Petrie; and her great-grandson, Dashiell Hillberry.

In lieu of flowers, donations in her memory may be made to an animal rescue organization, or any charitable cause of your choice.

The White Settlement Police Department received a second prestigious award during the conference.

The second award, bestowed onto Detective Geovanny Ramirez (pictured above, right), was the 2024 Flock Safety Solved Award. This award recognizes departments who are committed to solving serious and violent crimes. Detective Ramirez has worked numerous cases where he utilizes license plate reader and camera technologies that have led to the identification, arrest, and prosecution of offenders.

“Our team was honored to receive two prestigious awards this week, which highlights the great things that the City of White Settlement is doing,” said Chief Cook. “Detective Ramirez does an outstanding job for our department and city. His unwavering commitment to collaborating with his teammates, the Patrol Division, and external agencies is what sets the bar for the high level of service that victims deserve.”

The department embraces several technology products to fight crime, including Flock Safety license plate readers and cameras. To get a demonstration of the 21st Century technologies, coordinate with Corporal Laura Gonzalez as the team lead for the department’s Strategic Comms Team.

What to Do with Your Carved Jack-o-Lantern?

It's that time of year again - when people consider what to do about proper pumpkin care and wildlife health.

Things to consider this spooky season regarding your delicious orange porch snack, aka, your decorative pumpkin:

- Critters will likely eat (or at least nibble on) your carved gourds. Squirrels, raccoons, deer, foxes, mice and insects might feast on the tasty treat you left out near your front door. “How nice of you!” they might think as they eat their weight in slimy pumpkin goodness.

- Painted pumpkins can make for an easier way to create a fun or creepy pumpkin. However, a painted pumpkin can potentially be toxic to wildlife if they eat it. If you choose to paint your pumpkin, consider keeping it indoors and away from any critters who might feast on its painted flesh. You can also explore nontoxic paint options made with natural ingredients when possible.

In recent years, social media users have posted various “tricks” to keep a carved pumpkin from rotting so quickly. Keep in mind that letting nature take its course is always an option! Carved pumpkins are eventually going to decompose one way or another.

Always follow the directions of any product you’re applying to a pumpkin for your safety and others, including wildlife.

Sustainable disposal: recycling, composting, and more

Consider recycling or composting pumpkins and gourds once the festivities are over! If you cannot compost at home (or it’s not your thing), many communities, cities, and municipalities provide free composting services or recycling programs these days. Do some research in your local community to explore whether government agencies, nonprofits, businesses, or other organizations might collect or allow you to drop off your pumpkin for composting or recycling during the fall and winter months.

You can also explore other creative ways to use your pumpkin or jack-o'-lantern sustainably depending on your locality, climate, and geography. For instance, some zoos or animal rescue centers might accept pumpkins if they are free of toxic chemicals. Pumpkin seeds might also be eaten by people or wildlife.

Explore additional eco-tips for helping wildlife and healthy habitats year-round. For instance, leaving leaves on the ground each fall can provide important habitat for a diversity of native wildlife that need it including butterflies, moths, salamanders, toads, turtles, and many other species.

Texas History Minute, by Dr. Ken Bridges

United States District Judge - Barefoot Sanders

Barefoot Sanders was a familiar figure in the Dallas legal community for years. As a judge, he became a powerful voice for justice. And not only did he make history, he was a witness to many important events in the twentieth century.

Harold Barefoot Sanders, Jr., was born in Dallas in 1925. Barefoot was his grandmother's maiden name, Dennie Barefoot. Though he disliked the name as a youngster, he embraced it as an adult. He attended local schools, graduating from North Dallas High School in 1942. He enlisted in the navy the next year, serving on a battleship in the Pacific for the remainder of World War II.

When he returned in 1946, he enrolled at the University of Texas. He was a popular figure on campus and worked hard at his studies, graduating in 1949. He quickly enrolled at the UT Law School and earned a law degree by the next year. He found a position at a Dallas law firm and looked to a future in politics.

In 1952, he was elected to the Texas House of Representatives, his first of three terms. He sponsored a number of reforms to investment law, the judicial process, and to the state's mental health care system. In 1958, he ran for Congress for the Dallas County district held by Republican Bruce Alger but lost decisively.

In spite of the defeat, John F. Kennedy hired Sanders to manage his presidential campaign in Dallas County in 1960. Afterward, Kennedy appointed Sanders as US Attorney for the District of North Texas. In that fateful November in 1963, he warned Kennedy not to come to Dallas for his goodwill tour of the state, fearful of the toxic political atmosphere of the time. Sanders rode in one of the cars in the motorcade that included Vice-President Lyndon Johnson and Gov. John Connally. After the president's murder in the streets of Dallas, he located and brought federal judge Sarah T. Hughes to Love Field to swear in Johnson as president.

Sanders became the Assistant Attorney General in 1965 and helped convince Congress to pass the landmark Voting Rights Act, which allowed millions more American citizens to be able to vote. He also served as legislative counsel, helping the president with legal aspects of legislation and helping pass his agenda. Johnson nominated Sanders for a position as federal judge in 1968. However, legislative delays prevented the Senate from acting upon the nomination before Johnson's term in office expired. The incoming president, Richard Nixon, refused to nominate Sanders.

Sanders returned to private law practice, and in 1972, he announced his candidacy for the US Senate. He faced former US Sen. Ralph Yarborough in the primary, who was ousted in the 1970 primary by Lloyd Bentsen. Sanders won the Democratic nomination but lost to Tower that fall by a sizable margin that fall.

In 1979, President Jimmy Carter nominated Sanders to be a federal judge for the Federal District Court for the Northern District of Texas. Sanders was confirmed easily. As a federal judge, he oversaw many cases, but the most prominent was the desegregation of Dallas schools.

Dallas, like many cities across the country, faced racial divisions for decades. Many Dallas leaders tried to downplay the severity of those problems or denied they even existed. The Dallas school board had slowly moved to desegregate the schools in the late 1960s, a handful of students at a time. Even this enraged segregationists who refused to accept any desegregation of schools and civil rights activists who believed the rights of all Dallas school children were at stake.

After years of court fights, the case landed in Sanders's court. By 1981, he ordered a new desegregation plan for Dallas, which he would oversee the implementation for the next twenty years. The legal system works on past precedents. For Sanders, the law was not about protecting the status quo or even a privileged few. The law and the rights promised to all Americans in the Constitution had to apply to everyone for it to mean anything. Though the changes were sometimes difficult, Dallas slowly moved toward desegregation of its schools.

Sanders stepped down from an active role on the court in 1996. Once he took senior status, as it is called, he took only the occasional case.

As his health declined in his later years, he retired completely from the court in 2006. He died in 2008 at the age of 83.
